

Leslie Becker holds over 20 years of local experience in Las Vegas with demonstrated success in the construction industry. She has been responsible for business development, client coordination, and project management and coordination for construction engineering consultant and general contractors. Integral to her success at Lawyer Trane is her natural relationship-building skills, tenacious drive and industry-related experience. Leslie is responsible for working in the existing building service division, where she primarily is focused on finding the right energy solutions for buildings. As a seasoned project manager, she provides guidance and collaborative and effective working relationships with her clients.

On her free time, Leslie likes to spend time with her family and enjoys football, theater and performing arts.
